Still waiting

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE removal of a plaque in memory of Leon Briggs by police has sparked outrage from those close to him, as the wait for answers goes on.

Leon's friend Cyril Mitchell, who gave a speech at an event to erect the plaque on Wednesday evening, said: "This goes against what was promised."

"We go there to show our respect and them removing the plaque just feels like a slap in the face for Leon's family and the people of Luton."

Leon Briggs died in custody at Luton Police Station on November 4, 2013, after being detained under section 136 of the Mental Health Act.

The plaque was mounted on the wall of Luton Police Station on Wednesday at a ceremony marking two years since his death, which more than 100 people attended.

Luton on Sunday has seen emails from Bedfordshire Police giving the family permission to erect the plaque. But the force decided to remove the tribute on Thursday morning while it 'seeks legal advice'. A spokesman said the object could prejudice future legal proceedings involving the six members of staff currently under investigation by the Independent Police Complaints Commission.

Leading those assembled at the memorial event on Wednesday, Mr Mitchell said: "Leon's become a beacon and, as much as I don't want to use the word, a martyr for Luton. We're here two years on to show respect for him as a community, for somebody I loved, who I called my best friend."

"Two years on we still want answers as to what happened to Leon, first for the family and second for the community."

Superintendent Mark Upex said: "As we have previously explained, we are unable to allow the plaque to be placed until we have fully explored the potential legal implications it may have on any future proceedings."

"As a result we have removed the plaque and will be returning it to the family for safekeeping until the matter has been resolved."

Battle is on to save Bear from closure

A JAZZ club owner says he has been 'overwhelmed' by support to save his club after its future was placed under threat.

This week, The Bear Club in Guildford Street, Luton, announced it would shut its doors after being told it would receive an excessive noise notice from Luton Borough Council.

Owner Justin Doherty said the notice was 'essentially a gagging order'.

He added: "By sheer definition of what we do and who we are, I will without doubt be in further breach of their conditions and liable for further action, prosecution and fines of up to £20,000."

"It's been overwhelming the love and the fight people have put up for The Bear. . . I shouldn't be surprised."

"Luton, and the wider reaches, have responded to the club with such passion and commitment since we opened in 2014."

There has been a strong reaction to the proposed closure of the club, with a petition asking Luton Borough Council to allow the club to remain open reaching its target of 1,500 signatures in under 24 hours.

People from as far away as Texas and Germany have expressed their support for the club by signing.

At the time of writing, more than 3,000 names had been added.

Paul Jolly, owner of Luton jazz label 33 Records and regular performer at the venue, jumped to its defence and criticised the council for issuing the notice.

He said: "Given the level of noise from everywhere else in Luton it's frankly ridiculous it's facing closure."

"Luton has lots of funding coming from the Arts Council and the BID is working hard to create a nighttime economy."

"The council needs to work with them."

"There's been no incidents at The Bear Club and it's brought together a big cross section of people. It would be a big loss for the town if it was to shut down."

In a statement on Friday, Mr Doherty, who is currently out of the country on business, sounded optimistic about the chances of the club surviving.

Editor's Letter

Club closure would be big loss for town

LUTON is a town very proud of its heritage, its culture and its booming independent businesses.

Why then are we now talking about the possible full-time closure of a popular jazz venue, The Bear Club, just because someone has complained it's too loud?

The owner of the club, which only opened last year, has said the noise abatement order issued by Luton Borough Council doesn't actually mean the club has to close but by limiting how much noise it is able to make, the club won't be able to operate as it should.

This is undoubtedly bad news for Luton's night-time economy – in fact a petition has been set up arguing just that. In its short lifetime The Bear Club has drawn in acts from around the world, stars it is unlikely would have come to Luton if not to perform there, and therefore you have to question the motives of this decision when it clearly is not in the interests of promoting what's good about our town.

Car park price hike 'insult' will drive shoppers away

BY CALR MUNGAZI
calr.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A ROW is brewing between two councils over proposed increases to parking charges which will see some fees rise by as much as 150 per cent.

Dunstable Town Council has written a strongly-worded letter to Central Bedfordshire Council stating that an increase from 50p to £1.50 for two hours of parking will drive shoppers away.

At a meeting on November 19, councillors will discuss the proposals which are supposed to help pay for improved technology and 'customer experience of our busiest car-parks'.

They will increase charges for parking from 30 minutes up to a week, as well as lost tokens.

The letter, written by Dunstable mayor Councillor Liz Jones, states: 'Trying to pay to park in Dunstable is a major trial as there is rarely a machine working that will take money, particularly in the Ashton Square Car Park, and this has been the case for many months now.'

'To insult us by trying to raise this charge is something that will bring the wrath of residents down upon the heads of Central Bedfordshire Councillors and Town Councillors elected in Dunstable.'

Business and residents have also come out against the charge.

Lee, from Lisa Roberts Catering in Ashton Square, said the charges would halt the town's progress and 'affect footfall'.

A Central Bedfordshire spokesman said: "The proposal to increase of car parking charges will be the first in a number of years and bring all council car park charges to the same level making it consistent across Central Bedfordshire.

"The proposal to increase parking charges will introduce a consistent fee across the whole of Central Bedfordshire."

The spokesman added that the increased revenue would go towards helping the council meet 'significant financial challenges'.

If councillors vote the charges through they will begin from January 1 next year.

'Mindless' graffiti blasted by skaters

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

'OFFENSIVE' writing which was scribbled at a skate park has been labelled as 'mindless writing' and 'vandalism'.

Unknown individuals wrote various things, including 'YOLO', 'RIP TOM' and 'f**x' at the facility which is off Court Drive, in Dunstable.

Pete Smith, 41, chairman of Dunstable Board Riders, said the people responsible for the writing were 'making things difficult' for others who wanted to enjoy it.

The park opened in March this year and has grown to be a popular feature in the town centre. It has been relatively trouble free until recent weeks.

Pete, who has been skating since he was 13, said the chemicals used in the spray paint could have damaged the smooth surface on the ramps.

He said: "Everybody loves a good bit of art and we had actually spoken about erecting walls just purely for that kind of thing but then decided if we did, the other areas of the park would get graffitied."

"We can only assume it was done by local delinquents. What they did is vandalism. Graffiti is traditional art whereas this is mindless writing."

Dunstable Town Council said: "This situation has been occurring over the last two to three weeks and before this and since the skate park was opened in March 2015 we have had very little by way of graffiti and damage. The majority of local skaters and young people using the park have looked after it quite well to this point. "It is unfortunate that a small minority have sought to act in this way and we are very disappointed with what has been occurring in recent weeks."

THAT'S JUST NOT ART:
Vandals hit
the park

Club owner hopeful of survival

Mr Doherty also remains confident of the council will work with him fairly in his efforts to see the club remain open.

He told Luton on Sunday: "We do not receive the notice until I return from working in the USA next week."

"Receipt of this was delayed by the council to fairly enable me to appeal with the 21 day window that I have."

"So until then, little more can be said other than watch this space."

The venue is due to shut its doors next Sunday, except for select shows.

A spokesman for Luton Borough Council said: "We cannot comment on individual cases that could be subject to legal action, however, excessive noise can make life a misery and everyone has a right to live in their home without suffering a noise nuisance."

"When we are satisfied that a noise nuisance exists, we have a duty to serve an abatement notice on the person responsible for the nuisance. The notice requires the person responsible to stop causing the nuisance."

"Failure to comply with such a notice can attract prosecution and a fine."

This week, club goers who signed the petition in their thousands left their tributes to the club and argued in its favour.

Natalia Koch said: "A place like this cannot disappear from town, there's no other place which brings amazing music and high culture to the town's public."

Olly slammed for camera cash plan

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

DRIVERS have dubbed police and crime commissioner Olly Martins' plans to raise cash for the county's police force by turning on M1 speed cameras as 'outrageous'.

The PCC announced the scheme, along with the idea of business sponsorship of uniforms and vehicles, at a Home Affairs select committee this week.

A spokesman for the Association of British Drivers said the PCC's proposal to turn the cameras back on to raise much-needed funding is in stark contrast to the force's own pledge that fining motorists is all about safety.

He said: "I've never heard of anyone saying they're raising money instead of just for safety."

"For him to say that he wants to raise

BIG IDEAS: Olly Martins wants to turn the M1 speed cameras back on to raise cash for the force money out of motorists is outrageous."

Mr Martins' plan to use speed cameras as a means to raise funds has been panned by people ranging from motorist groups to drivers' groups and political rivals.

Kathryn Holloway, Conservative candidate for the role of PCC at next year's election also criticised Mr Martins' plan.

She said: "The problem with this flawed plan starts with the fact that it confirms motorists' greatest fears; that money-making and not safety is the reason for the cameras in the first place."

"Why would they ever take them seriously again?

"It hasn't been thought through and claims it would raise £1m sounds like a 'guesstimation'."

Mr Martins said: "I am running out of levers to pull to keep Bedfordshire Police financially viable."

"We've had a council tax referendum. We've extensively lobbied the Home Office for fair funding but they haven't listened and the chancellor's spending review at the end of the month means we face more cuts."

"Strict enforcement of the speed limit could raise £1m and to me that's better than losing 25 more police officers."

He also said he expects to raise the money from cash the force gets from people attending speed awareness courses, which amounts to £35 a pop, meaning 28,000 people would need to take a course in the county for his target to be met.

newsbriefs

How to “Un-Trap” a Trapped Nerve

trapped you may experience excruciating pain and/or some very strange symptoms...

There are three types of nerves in the body:

1. Autonomic nerves. These nerves control the involuntary or partially voluntary activities of your body, including heart rate, blood pressure, digestion, and temperature regulation.
2. Motor nerves. These nerves control your movements and actions by passing information from your brain and spinal cord to your muscles.
3. Sensory nerves. These nerves relay information from your skin and muscles back to your spinal cord and brain. The information is then processed to let you feel pain and other sensations.

Because nerves are essential to all you do, trapped nerves can seriously affect your quality of life.

What Are the Symptoms of a Trapped Nerve?

When a nerve is trapped there can be a wide array of symptoms. Which ones you may have depends on the location and type of nerves that are affected. Damage can occur to nerves in your brain and spinal cord. It can also occur in the peripheral nerves, which are located throughout the rest of your body.

Trapped autonomic nerves may produce the following symptoms:

- Too much sweating or too little sweating
- Lightheadedness
- Dry eyes and mouth
- Constipation
- Bladder dysfunction
- Sexual dysfunction

Trapped motor nerves may produce the following symptoms:

- Weakness

- Muscle atrophy
- Twitching, also known as fasciculation
- Paralysis

Trapped sensory nerve damage may produce the following symptoms:

- Pain
- Sensitivity
- Numbness
- Tingling or prickling
- Burning
- Problems with positional awareness

In some instances, people can have symptoms that indicate that two, or even three, different types of nerves are trapped. For instance, you might experience weakness and burning of your legs at the same time. To further complicate matters we don't all develop the same way and different unexpected nerves can cause similar problems. This has made it very difficult to diagnose disorders caused by trapped nerves based on which nerve “should” cause what.

That is, until now...

Recent advances in technology that detects trapped nerves has led to more precise diagnosis for those people suffering with trapped nerve disorders.

And more precise diagnosis leads to better results... results which have been published in major medical journals. With data published in 2014 showing success rates as high as 90% some back surgeons are recommending their patients try this treatment first before having back surgery (for trapped nerves that leads to back pain and sciatica).

In Bedfordshire, you can get your body scanned for trapped nerves at the Atlas Wellness Centre.

BURNT: Vauxhall has issued a mass recall

Fire concerns prompt mass recall of Zafiras

VAUXHALL has recalled more than 220,000 vehicles after some customers reported fires breaking out in the dashboard.

The Luton-based manufacture has recalled its Zafira B models, which were built between 2005 and 2014. Its new chairman Rory Harvey said the investigation was being done 'very thoroughly and with the utmost urgency'.

Last month Luton on Sunday reported the story of Plymouth mum Sue Freemantle who launched a campaign after her family narrowly escaped from their car moments before it caught fire.

Number of police front desks to go

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THREE police front desk offices will shut next February due to budget cuts, we can reveal.

Bedfordshire Police said it will close its enquiry offices in Biggleswade, Leighton Buzzard and Houghton Regis after consulting residents.

However, the ones in Dunstable, Kempston, Bedford and Luton, which had been earmarked for closure, will stay open.

Seven jobs will be lost but the force said no-one would be made compulsorily redundant because of 'voluntary redundancy' and 'redeployment opportunities'.

The office in Greyfriars, Bedford, will open from 9am-5pm Monday to Friday – shorter than the 7am-10pm seven day arrangement that exists currently.

The reception at Kempston HQ will be scrapped and replaced with an enquiry office which will operate from 8am-8pm seven days a week.

Assistant chief constable, Mark Collins, said: "I would emphasise that even though some enquiry offices have been closed the police stations are still fully operational and residents can make an appointment to see officers there, or at their own homes."

"Although the funding picture looks bleak we will continue to press central government for a fairer funding settlement and support."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tom Bliss feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable and Stevenage areas and Tom is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success.

'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Cash from middle sale to help sister sites

PROCEEDS from the sale of a school closing next year will go towards another one in Dunstable.

The Ashton Foundation, which owns the land on which Ashton Middle School is built, said it is 'sensitive to the people of Dunstable'.

Last year Central

Bedfordshire Council decided to close the school along with two others.

The foundation said money from any sale would be invested into its two other sites in Dunstable at Manshead School and Ashton St Peter's.

Trustee Yvonne Beaumont said: "We are open to all possibilities for the site but we have to keep the grade two listed building at the front of the school.

"Because the site is no longer required as a school we have to find a way forward, and the proceeds from that will go towards the other school in our care."

Parking peril fears over school's move

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

PLANNING permission has been granted for a 504-capacity primary school despite opposition from residents.

Luton Borough councillors backed Moorlands Free School's £4.5 million relocation from Leagrave High Street to land in Park Street at a meeting on Wednesday.

The former Barnfield Academy Trust school will go from catering for 378 to taking 504 by when it opens next September.

lem with people leaving their vehicles then going into town or even going on holiday preventing residents from parking outside their own houses.

"The introduction of a new school would dramatically increase this problem."

Principal Carrie Matthews (pictured left) said: "We can't wait to start turning our dream school into a reality."

"Our pupils are so incredibly excited about this new chapter in the school's life."

"They've all seen the artist's impressions of their new school and, like the rest of us, are thrilled".

Residents against the proposals had expressed concern that the new building would create congestion.

Bruce Coupe, from Park Street, said: "The parking on Park street is already a prob-

DOZY PARKERS

Riding high

THIS week's dozy parker was spotted by a reader in High Town Road.

We all know High Town's a pretty tricky place to park but that doesn't excuse this driver leaving their Vauxhall Zafira not only on a yellow line but up the kerb as well.

It could only really be worse if they'd parked a bit further forward and blocked that driveway aswell!

READALLOVER

TAKING a break from the online side of the business, our group digital editor Andy Watt catches up with what's been happening over the past week with a copy of Luton on Sunday.

Splitting his time between Luton, Bedford, Cambridge, Northampton and Milton Keynes it can be a bit tricky keeping up with what's happening everywhere, but Andy makes sure he's got all the best news at his fingertips.

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: Georgie Coan

Stay safe on the internet

IN this week's blog digital marketer and local blogger Georgie Coan talks about the importance of staying safe whilst online. She has recently dealt with people affected by online security breaches and wants to share some tips on how you can protect yourself.

CYBER crime is on the rise.

With the incorporation of cyber-offences, the crime-rate in England and Wales is set to rise by 40 per cent.

Cyber attacks have been documented in the news more frequently in recent years, but there is a lot more information out there about keeping yourself safe online.

People and businesses are still coming under attack from hackers and hijackers, the pirates of the World Wide Web, through fake sites and phishing scams.

There are various ways you can protect your online identity.

• Modify your privacy settings

Check your privacy settings on your social media accounts to check who can view your content.

People often send private details (such as an address or mobile number) to a friend's Facebook walls or through public tweets without realising everyone will be able to view it on their time feeds.

Change your privacy settings to 'Friends' on Facebook and set your Twitter account to private.

If you are sending private details, send them through email.

• Add an extra layer of security

Both Facebook and Twitter allow for mobile verification in their security settings.

This means if anyone tries to log into your accounts from unknown browsers, they will need a verification code sent to your mobile device to log in.

This will stop hackers from infiltrating your accounts as easily.

• Don't use the same password!

Although our passwords are very easy to forget, try not to have the same password for every account.

Many people make this mistake and find that when their social media is hacked, their emails and other personal accounts can also be accessed.

If you do find it easier to have the similar passwords for your accounts, add different characters so that there are some variations between them.

• Don't fall for fake emails

Many fraudsters will create emails and send them to your email posing as official companies whom you may have accounts with.

They may pose as your bank society, PayPal or other payment systems.

They'll often provide links in the emails and can look legitimate as they put in a lot of hard work to make their emails look as real as possible. Always log on through the official website or contact your bank. Never click through to links within these emails.

• Use official websites or stockists

Make sure to use official websites when shopping online. Official sites will usually appear as the first option when Googled. The official website will also give you a list of genuine stockists who sell their items so you know you won't be entering payment details to fake sites.

Your Luton Letters on sunday

Money down the drain

WHAT else can our bumbling Police Commissioner get wrong?

I've just had a call from a friend to tell me that Mr Martins is in the Luton Mall canvassing signatures for a petition to Westminster for increased funding. Nothing wrong with that, of course, but what stunned my friend – and provoked his phone call to me – was the fact that Mr Martins wasn't alone. He was accompanied by a number of uniformed officers – "between twenty and thirty of them!" Well, I know people have asked for our police to be 'more visible' but I don't think this is quite what they had in mind.

My friend heard more than one passer-by pose the question: "Shouldn't they be out somewhere catching criminals?"

But what about the cost to the police budget? This looks like yet another example of Mr Martins' very leaky purse and careless profligacy. And it's for this very reason that I oppose his ongoing and all consuming campaign for more cash – he simply wastes what he has, on ineffective and ill-judged fripperies.

I'm solidly behind increasing Bedfordshire's funding – I'm pretty sure they are desperately underfunded – but not while we have Mr Martins in charge, busily pouring money down the drain.

Sorry Mr Martins, in spite of all your bitter experiences over the past four years you've even failed to learn that 'presentation is everything', and once again you have sent out the wrong message.

Ron Turvey
Stanmore Crescent
Luton

More than meets the eye

LAST week you reported a resident complaining about the lack of community facilities in Sundon Park.

He must have forgotten that our church hosts the community's library, plus dementia care, keep fit, toddler groups etc every weekday. We are even building a new hall to provide more. The high school hosts other community activities most days also. Admittedly there's always scope and demand for more but please report the facts.

Revd E.Cockbill
Sundon Park Baptist Church
Luton

Voters deserve better

WHEN the Labour party are in power, they love to spend tax payers' money like its their own.

Then, sooner or later the Tories get back in power. They hate to spend money on the people.

They spend their time in office clawing it back again. I feel sorry for the people of this country.

They are either pushed or pulled. We deserve better than the political parties that see us as no more than a vote.

John Tucker
Bracklesham Gardens
Luton

Supply and demand

THE hard truth is that a crackdown in High Town (LoS, 1.11.15) will, at best, only drive it to another area. Matt Ryan (pictured) and others should wake up to other facts, too. For example: there will always be people willing to satisfy a demand as long as there are customers willing to pay for it. So wherever there are large conurbations with an excess of men compared with women there is likely to be a demand for prostitutes.

Waste firm's £100k safety breach fine

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A WASTE and recycling company has been fined £100,000 after a worker's arm was dragged into a conveyor belt.

The 32-year-old employee was working at F&R Cawley Limited's site in Covent Garden Close, Luton on 28 February 2014 when the incident happened.

The control room operator turned off the power to the machine but Luton Crown Court heard the company's lock-off and isolation procedure had not been followed on site for some time.

As he attempted to remove a bit of waste from the rollers the power was turned back on by the control room operator and his arm was pulled into the rollers.

He sustained serious fractures and required three metal plates in his left arm which he is still unable to use, meaning he is unable to work and is still needing to undergo further surgeries to correct the problem.

A Health and Safety Executive investigation found the company's procedures for lock-off/isolation and clearing blockages was inadequate.

The company pleaded guilty to breaching section 3(1) of the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 and was fined £100,000 and ordered to pay £20,763.

GOING NOWHERE: Patrick Smith (inset) wants the council to take action against Car Carnoisneur as it parks one of its cars in front of a shopping parade in Dunstable every day

Dodgy parking riles up locals

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A PARISH councillor has accused parking officers of not fulfilling their responsibility to clamp down on bad parking.

Patrick Smith (pictured above), from Caddington Parish Council, said he has spent all summer trying to get Central Bedfordshire Council to remove a company car parked in Dunstable.

The vehicle is parked outside Car Carnoisneur Leasing in High Street South and acts as an advertising extension to the firm's store front.

Mr Smith said: "If any damage is done to this pavement then it's the local people who have to pay for it."

"This happens everyday and it's very close to the pedestrian crossing. I have told the council it can use the Highway Act and the Health and Safety Act to tackle it."

"The people at the shop are using the pavement to get the maximum advertising and it is not acceptable."

Paul Mayhew, managing director at Car Carnoisneur, said: "The car is off the road and not on the pathway. It is part of our shop front. We are a busy employer and we pay taxes and rates and our business should be supported."

A Central Bedfordshire Council spokesman said the authority could not do anything as the road was under Highway's England's control.

He added: "We have contacted the police to see whether they can enforce with their powers on the grounds of obstruction of the highway but they decided against this because the vehicle in question is not physically obstructing safe passage of pedestrians due to the generous width of footway."

FULL & WEEKLY BOARDING OR DAY FOR BOYS AGED 13-18

Force clamping down on bikers

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

DETECTIVES have said they are investigating reports of motorcyclists 'riding dangerously' through Luton town centre and the surrounding area.

Bedfordshire Police posted a message online over the weekend to reassure residents after it received reports of the vehicles which were being ridden all over the town centre.

Over the summer the force has been clamping down on 'nuisance bikers' in Dunstable and Houghton Regis and its officers seized a number of motorcycles.

A number of residents also left messages online detailing their frustrations and calling on the force to take action.

Ange Poulton said: "Just seen an idiot riding along Poynter's Road, no lights, no helmet no protective riding wear. It is idiots like this that tar all the good riders in the world with a bad reputation."

Another resident, Tracey Field, said: "I saw them Sunday afternoon, tearing up the dual carriageway past the fire station in Stopsley village, just on the back wheel, crazy and so intimidating!"

Chief inspector Gavin Hughes-Rowlands said: "We want to reassure the public that we are taking action on their concerns to tackle this type of offender and keep our communities safe."

"We have to be intelligence-led in our response to this kind of activity and have been working hard behind the scenes to deal with this dangerous and anti-social behaviour."

Right up your street

Bute behind the names

LAST week I wrote about Bute and Stuart Streets. Seven more streets have Bute links.

Collingdon Street refers to Thomas Collingdon who worked for the Bute family for over 50 years and was a trusted adviser.

The Second Marquess of Bute inherited the title Earl of Dumfries in 1803, hence Dumfries Street. Hastings Street and Windsor Street refer to families the Butes married into.

The Marquess of Bute married the daughter of the Marquis of Hastings and in 1766 the

This week Howard Chandler looks again at the town's link to prominent civilians...

First Marquess married the daughter of the Second Viscount Windsor.

This marriage brought vast estates in Wales and they developed Cardiff docks, with the area around it becoming known as Butetown. Cardiff Road and Cardiff Grove come from this connection.

The owner of Luton Hoo from 1848 was John Shaw Leigh and his family made its fortune from Liverpool docks. Liverpool Road was laid out in 1862.

FIGHT IS ON: Cllr David Franks said there are still 'huge obstacles' to be overcome before the field's future is secured

Plea for field's legal protection

A COUNCIL chief executive will be asked to create a legal document guaranteeing the future of a college playing field this week.

At a meeting on Tuesday, councillors - led by Liberal Democrat councillor David Franks - will request that Trevor Holden, head of Luton Borough Council, ensure Barnfield College re-opens its playing field and maintains it to a 'safe and appropriate standard'.

The college had closed the green space following an incident in which individuals gained access to its New Bedford Road site via the fields.

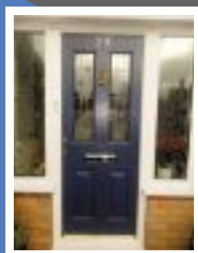

The group then tried to assault a student.

Barnfield recently announced its wishes to move to a more 'central' location but it is as yet unclear what affect any legal agreement would have on the site's future development.

Cllr Franks, who has campaigned for the fields to be re-opened, said the proposal was 'very positive' but added that there were still 'huge obstacles'.

A Barnfield College spokeswoman said: "It would not be appropriate for us to comment at this time."

Mum on mission

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

WHEN 17-year-old student Rahul Patel collapsed during a P.E. lesson in 2013, his life was saved by the quick-thinking actions of staff at a nearby leisure centre.

The teenager had suffered a sudden cardiac arrest (SCA) at Lea Manor School, in Luton, a condition in which the heart unexpectedly stops beating.

Fortunately, lifeguard Jordan Batson was quickly on the scene and he was joined by his team leader Tara Bonnett.

Even more fortunately for Rahul, Tara arrived with a defibrillator – a device which delivers an electrical shock to stop the irregular rhythm and allow the heart's natural pacemaker to restart the usual rhythm.

It had only been at the centre for a week but it played a crucial part in saving Rahul's life.

Rahul's mum Meeta is now on a mission to ensure every headteacher knows the value of this crucial bit of kit in an emergency.

Her aim is to see every school in the county with a defibrillator on site. But since starting her campaign in January this year, she has only managed to convince

PRESSING AHEAD:
Meeta Patel, left, juggles her job as a nurse with campaigning for more schools to have defibrillators, pictured here with son Rahul and lifesaver Tara Bonnett five schools across both Luton and Bedford.

Commenting on her family's journey, she said: "It has been a bit difficult to get used to Rahul having a pace-maker fitted and the regular appointments to the hospital."

"He has done well and he has not let it affect him in any way. He is in college doing what he wants to do."

Meeta says funding is a major obstacle as each device can cost up to £1,200.

Despite estimates which state that every week in the UK 12 healthy people aged 35 and under die from undiagnosed cardiac conditions, Meeta says the lack of awareness is something she has to fight through.

all and I hope to have someone from the ambulance service to come and show them that it is easy to use."

Tara, the lifeguard who helped save Rahul's life, says the incident 'made everyone more aware how important having that piece of equipment is'. All her staff are trained know how to use it and she says it increases the survival chances of patients who need it.

It is this kind of testimony Meeta hopes will help convince decision makers have a defibrillator installed.

She is being supported by BOC Healthcare, the suppliers of the defibrillator which saved Rahul's life. BOC's product manager Cheryl Toole said they could be used by people with little or no training.

Funding for one can be provided through programmes such as those run by the British Heart Foundation.

Meeta says: "It is hard work but it's something that is close to my heart."

"I know how hard it is to go through what we went through and we did not lose Rahul."

"I would hate for another family to go through what I went through and not come through with a positive result. As a family we struggled and as a mum I struggled. If I can prevent another mum from going through then it will be worth it."

■ To find out more visit BOC's at bochealthcare.co.uk

"I think that funding is a huge issue as it is very limited", Meeta says.

"Some of the heads are a bit anxious. But when you have trips you have risk assessments and in school a cardiac arrest could happen to anyone of any age."

"I'm hoping to attend a meeting with the head-teachers so I can catch them

STEAM DREAM: The Flying Scotsman will visit Luton

Train spotters' delight in town

THE FAMOUS Flying Scotsman steam train will visit Luton next year following a £4.2 million restoration by the National Railway Museum.

On June 4 the 1923-built locomotive (No. 60103) will visit the town to collect passengers en route to York. It has been recruited by the Railway Touring Company to haul the 'Yorkshireman' train.

The train will depart London Victoria before going through St Albans, Luton, and Bedford.

Quick thinking staff save hotel from fire

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A LUXURY hotel had to be evacuated of its guests following a fire in the main building on Tuesday night.

Firefighters fought the blaze in the main lobby chimney of Luton Hoo after the hotel was evacuated of 35 guests. Fortunately the blaze was started accidentally and there were no casualties.

The fire service received a call from the Hoo at 5.15pm about the incident which had caused smoke to fill the lobby and reception area. Smoke and burning ash were also billowing out of the top of the chimney stack.

When firefighters arrived they found smoke and ash falling into the large hearth in the lobby.

They immediately called for more support and after assessing the severity of the fire began rolling up carpets and moving furniture to minimise damage. The fire was extinguished by 7.04pm.

Matthew Long, general manager, said: "We are pleased to report there was no damage of any sort and normal service was resumed in time for the evening dinner service."

Watch commander Anthony Doherty said: "Our crews who worked hard to get the fire under control and then put it out without causing any major harm to the rest of the building and its fixtures and fittings. They took care to ensure there was no risk to the rest of the building or the interiors."

on the go

Are you sitting comfortably? Then I'll begin...

ONE-WOMAN shows require a lot of work but if the reviews of 'I Believe in Unicorns' are anything to go by, then Danyah Miller is in the right job.

She is part of Wizard Presents, an award-winning theatre company which has put on performances for local and global audiences.

Their latest production - featuring storyteller Danyah - is based on the book of the same name by Michael Morpurgo and has already won an Argus Award for Artistic Excellence at Brighton Festival.

The show is set in a library full of books that hold more than just stories within their pages.

Danyah said: "It is about this little boy (Tomas) who does not want to read or write who goes to the library but has to be dragged there."

"What is beautiful about it is that when we have done the show, the audience say how much they enjoyed it."

"We have lots of stories from the audiences but one that springs to mind is one guy who left school 30 years ago and the show inspired him to pick up a book."

Tomas' hatred of reading and school is turned on its head when he meets the 'Unicorn Lady' at the library, a librarian who brings literature to life.

Danyah said: "It is an hour-long story that takes you through all the emotions. The audiences we have had have said it is one of the most magical hours they have had."

COMEDY

No weak links here

POPULAR comedy night Barnstormers is making its return to Dunstable this Thursday with a number of top comedians taking to the Grove Theatre's stage.

Heading the bill is Joe Rowntree, who first got into show business writing put downs for Anne Robinson in the Weakest Link.

After stints hosting the stage spin-off of the successful science TV show Brainiac, he's taken to stand up and has performed across the UK and further afield, with dates as far away as Dubai and Qatar.

He has also supported Rhod Gilbert and Stephen K Amos on their UK theatre tours.

His most recent show on the Edinburgh Fringe was as his character Morgan Berry: Pet Bereavement Counsellor, which has received rave reviews, including four stars from Chortle.

Next on the bill is Brian Higgins, pictured, a favourite with students due to his tales of hard drinking.

His topics vary from his 'loony childhood', his former days as a paramedic, as well as life's ups and downs in an always topical set.

Described as the 'people's favourite comedian' by The Stage, combined with his energetic delivery, he never fails to deliver the goods.

As well as being one of the busiest acts on the circuit, he has headlined the best clubs not only in the UK but Dubai, Hong Kong, Singapore, Ireland and cruise ships all over the world.

Last, but definitely not least, we have Richard Morton.

Described as 'possibly Newcastle's finest export since the famous brown ale' and certainly more consistent than its football team, Morton has nailed the twin talents of musicianship and comedy into one perfectly suited package.

A former winner of Time Out Comedian of the Year, Richard Morton's amiable manner belies a razor sharp talent and with some acutely witty and well-defined and varied observations, he tackles a plethora of life's situations in gags, tales, and some of his hilarious and occasional risqué songs.

A big favourite at the Edinburgh Festival since making his debut in 1998, he has enjoyed a host of sell-out runs at the famous Assembly Rooms while also whipping up other comedy festivals.

Tickets are £12.50 in advance or £15 on the door.

They are available from the box office either in person, by calling 01582 602080 or by visiting grovetheatre.co.uk.

REVIEW

Change of heart is a curious thing

CURIOUS INCIDENT
 MK THEATRE

WHEN I first read the Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time in my final year of school I hated it.

Yes, that's right. I thought it was truly awful. And that might be a brave thing to say considering everyone always raves about it, but there you go.

Upon seeing the stage adaptation this week, however, my mind has been completely changed.

Reading Mark Haddon's novel I found the protagonist, 15-year-old Christopher Boone, intolerably annoying. Perhaps it was the age at which I first read the book; although I understood why he acts the way he does, I had little sympathy for him.

But as a member of the audience rather than a reader, I immediately warmed to him. Although I can't empathise with his problems and I don't have anyone close to me with Aspergers Syndrome, I felt a connection.

The show manages to be theatrical, making excellent use of some superb choreography and a basic but technologically advanced set, while remaining true to the spirit of the book.

The entire story is staged in a versatile black box. The use of screens, chalk drawings and very few props (bar an amazing electric train set that I'm incredibly jealous of) helps ensure the focus is firmly on Christopher and his parents, what they are doing, how they are feeling.

I particularly enjoyed the twist that Christopher's warm-hearted teacher at his special needs school, Siobhan (Geraldine Alexander), actually reads to the audience the book he writes about his attempts to solve the mystery of who killed Wellington, the dog that was brutally killed in his neighbour's garden, as a form of narration and decides to stage it as a play.

The rest of the show takes us on an extraordinary journey which involves a tense moment at Paddington tube station when Christopher is about to be struck by an oncoming train that has everyone on the edge of their seats.

To get Curious Incident absolutely spot on though you need an incredibly strong male lead to play Christopher.

And in that respect Joshua Jenkins delivered - and then some.

The moments when he was either screaming in distress at being touched or holding his head in his hands and groaning, which are almost unbearable to watch, were expertly contrasted with frequent bursts of humour.

There were times that he would frustrate his parents with his 'behavioural problems' and would seem so utterly sure of his own abilities that were just delightfully funny.

The best bit however has to be the happy ending, a real treat for animal lovers.

What's hot in Luton

Music on Mondays at Luton Library Theatre welcomes one of Britain's leading violinists, Matthew Trusler, and pianist Martin Roscoe tomorrow at 7.30pm. The duo will play the three great violin sonatas by Elgar, Debussy and Janacek. Joining them for the Pity of War themed recital will be BBC Radio 3 presenter and Luton Music's president Petroc Trelawny, who will read Wilfred Owen poems touching upon moral courage and human triumph.

As part of the events marking the start of the first World War, on November 19 and 20 the Hat Factory will play host to All Our Heroes. It is a production exploring the perspectives of men from the Indian sub-continent who left their homes to fight in the war for the British Raj. Tickets cost £8.

Local talent takes the centre when the Shakespeare Schools Festival rolls into town between November 17-19. Each night three schools will perform three different Shakespeare plays. So come along to the Library Theatre and encourage the town's next generation of actors.

Rugby tycoon's space-age home

THIS space-age house is being sold by tycoon Steve O'Connor who is best known as the majority shareholder in rugby league club, the Widnes Vikings.

But it is football players who have been taking an interest in the property with several high profile names taking a look around. And you can see why, as it comes complete with its own football pitch, helipad, an indoor sports hall, wine cellar and indoor pool. You'd have to be earning something like a Premier League footballer to afford it too, as it's on the market for £4.75m.

O'Connor acknowledges that somebody famous could well be tempted because of its facilities and privacy. He said: "It looks bizarre but is a real hideaway and would probably suit a younger buyer."

Other draws for a young family include a zip-wire, adventure playground and tree house in the garden.

The futuristic, semi-underground property on the slopes of Helsby Hill in Cheshire, has five bedrooms and ten bathrooms, boasts state-of-the-art technology including keyless doors and staff flat with independent access.

The home also has green credentials as the temperature is controlled using an air tower which releases hot air in the top and lets in cold air at the bottom.

Where Busby recovered from Munich

AFTER a rocky season last year, Manchester United are riding high in the Premier League table and looking to regain their title-winning form under Louis van Gaal.

But he's got some big shoes to fill – not just Alex Ferguson's, but for those with longer memories, Sir Matt Busby. One of the greatest managers of all time, Busby's managerial records and longevity at the helm are surpassed only by Sir Alex.

During the early 1950s, his team picked up the affectionate nickname the Busby Babes, because of the youthfulness of many of the players. But after a European Cup tie against Red Star Belgrade on February 6, 1958, their plane crashed on the runway in Munich, leaving eight players and three club officials among the 21 people dead.

Busby suffered multiple injuries and twice received the last rites, but recovered from his injuries, going onto successfully rebuild United, famously lifting the European Cup in 1968. He died in 1994, aged 84.

The home the injured Busby returned to two months after the disaster, in Chorlton-cum-Hardy outside Manchester, is now up for sale for £375,000.

It's a detached three-bedroom house on a large corner plot which, subject to planning permission, could house a small separate bungalow, according to estate agent Ashton Rains.

Inside, there are sizable living and dining rooms, while outside there's plenty of space for off-road parking and a detached garage.

Sanatorium where Bryson fell for Britain

FOND MEMORIES:
Bill Bryson worked as a porter at Holloway Sanatorium

Travel writer Bill Bryson has been laying into his adopted country while promoting his new book, criticising the National Trust for fleecing tourists as well as the "quietly disgraceful behaviour of the British".

The American Anglophile moaned he was made to stump up £32 before he got to see the famous Neolithic stone circle in Avebury, and also criticised a smartly dressed woman in a Keswick café who left a 10p tip for her £20 tea.

The damning tales appear in Bryson's new book, The Road to Little Dribbling, More Notes from a Small Island – 20 years after the first instalment was published and made the writer a household name.

In his new book, he details the time he spent working as a porter in Holloway Sanatorium, Virginia Water, where the very wealthy who suffered mental illness were able to reside in relative luxury in a secure NHS-owned hospital.

Bryson has very fond memories of the sanatorium, as he met his wife Cynthia while living there. And although Holloway was full of long-term patients who were "quite mad", he loved the quintessential Englishness of the place.

It closed its doors in the 1980s, and after years of neglect, was redeveloped as private housing. Set in 25 acres with 24-hour gated security, Virginia Park, was reopened 20 years ago with community leisure facilities including a swimming pool, Jacuzzi, gym, tennis court and sports hall.

A two-bedroom apartment is now up for sale in the Grade I listed Gothic pile at £935,000. It's got a reception hall, sitting room, kitchen/breakfast room, master bedroom with luxury en-suite as well as secure underground parking for three cars.

Homes with a good track record

ARE you a Britpop fan who worships at the album covers of Blur and Pulp's long players Parklife, The Great Escape and Different Class? Then the 11 mews houses for sale on the Goldhawk Road in Shepherd's Bush at the moment would make the ideal London pad.

Being sold as the Townhouse Mews development, they are all within the large building that used to house The Townhouse recording studio. The three-studio facility was built in 1978 to house Richard Branson's fast-expanding Virgin Records empire and is where an eye-boggling list of Britpop and other recording artists laid down tracks.

As well as Blur and Pulp, other groups who recorded at the studios included Suede, The Jam, Oasis, Coldplay, Muse, Duran Duran, Queen, Cranberries, Cure, Placebo and Kaiser Chiefs.

One of the 20th century's most famous and biggest-selling singles, Candle in the Wind, was recorded by Elton John at the studios in the hours following Princess Diana's funeral in 1997.

The property was owned by Virgin until EMI bought out Branson in the early 1990s and subsequently sold the studio on to an independent, which ceased recording there in 2008. It then remained empty and unused until 2014 when an Irish developer snapped it up for £7.5 million.

Each of the large, contemporary-designed mews homes have four bedrooms and are on the market for £2.15 million.

Blyton's hotel going for £15m

Mystery To Solve was modelled on Brownsea Island in Poole Harbour, which the hotel overlooks.

Over the years the family getaway has played host to other famous guests including author Roald Dahl, actor Michael Gambon and Sir Richard Branson.

Built in the early 1900s, it's been in the same family since 1959. Now owners Michael and Christopher Ferguson have decided to sell up, and the 1930s style property, surrounded by woodland with sea views and direct access to a four-mile sandy beach, is on the market for £15m.

It's not changed much since Enid Blyton's visits and is still very old-school.

It boasts a spa, heated outdoor pool, children's playground, tennis courts, nine-hole pitch and putt golf course.

ENID Blyton might not be the most fashionable children's author, but many youngsters still delight in the adventures of Julian, Dick, Anne, Georgina and their dog Timmy – cultural icons more than 70 years after they first appeared in print.

She'd find inspiration for the Famous Five's thrilling tales while holidaying at her favourite hotel. In fact, Blyton was such a fan of Knoll House Hotel that her family would visit three or four times a year, often for weeks at a time.

The first of her Famous Five books, Five On A Treasure Island, published in 1942, features a ruined castle that's based on Corfe Castle just a few miles from the hotel on the Dorset coast, while Whispering Island in 1962's Five Have A

I would like to take this opportunity thank you all at Major Move for all your hard work in finding me a buyer for my bungalow. I had been trying to sell for nearly two years with several other estate agents without very much success. We were over the moon and indeed quite taken aback when after only a few viewings you had three couples interested at the same time. Without the help of your team we would probably still be there. Good job, well done!”

“We would like to take this opportunity to thank you all at Major Move for helping us find our dream home. Especially Oz, who went above and beyond for our family. We have now been living in Airbroath Road for 3 weeks and couldn't be happier. Our experience with other agents was not of the outstanding service that we received from Major Move. We would ONLY recommend Major Move to our friends and family in the future. Thanks so much again.”

MOTORINGNEWS

Extra flair and space to win new MINI lots of converts

The reinvention of the MINI brand continues apace with the launch of the all-new MINI Convertible. With major refinements against its predecessor, the car features a striking new design and significant enhancements to make open-topped MINI motoring even more dynamic, stylish and practical.

Officially on sale in the UK from March 2016, it follows hugely successful model launches in 2004 and 2009. After 12 years of sales success, it remains the only premium soft-top four-seater convertible in the small car segment, and the UK continues to be the largest market worldwide for the new MINI Convertible.

Brand new features include a fully electric roof that is quieter and smoother than the previous model, a fully integrated rollover protection system and more rear space than ever before.

A striking new exterior and interior design ensures the new MINI Convertible is unmistakably MINI, whilst showcasing a blend of sporting flair and elegant dynamism.

The all-new MINI Cooper Convertible and Cooper D

MINI REINVENTED: The new convertible adds extra dynamism

Convertible are 3,821 mm long, with the MINI Cooper S Convertible 3,850 mm long. All models are 1,727 mm wide, 1,415 mm high and have a wheelbase of 2,495 mm.

Those dimensions have increased compared with the outgoing model. The increase in dimensions has enhanced comfort levels and freedom of movement in all four seats. The two front seats have a wider range of adjustment, while rear passengers benefit from easier access, more headroom, a longer seat surface and improved lateral support.

Day-to-day practicality has also improved. Smart design and interior packaging means luggage volume has expanded by around 25 per cent to 215 litres with the roof closed and 160 litres with it folded down.

A high level of standard equipment across the range includes MINI Visual Boost Radio with a 6.5-inch screen, MINI Connected, Bluetooth connectivity with USB audio, Rear Parking Distance Control and a Reversing Camera.

Personalisation is once again at the heart of the new MINI Convertible. Options include an industry-first Union Jack design woven into the MINI Yours fabric roof. There are two new exterior colours – Caribbean Aqua and Melting Silver – with a new Chester leather in Malt Brown available for the interior.

A three-car range will be available from launch – the MINI Cooper Convertible, MINI Cooper D Convertible and MINI Cooper S Convertible – with two petrol engines and one diesel. On-the-road pricing starts at just £18,475.

The most important element of any convertible is its roof, and MINI has gone to great lengths to further improve the quality of this key component.

Fully electric it is suitable for year-round use and has been optimised for the very best heat and acoustic insulation. Quieter than ever before, when opened it folds neatly behind the rear seats. The front roof section can also be retracted by up to 40 cm, and this can be carried out at any speed.

Suzuki Celerio

THE HARD CEL

The Suzuki Celerio aims to offer the interior space of the Splash with the price and economy of the Alto. Such attempts are usually doomed to failure, but the Celerio, with its perky 1.0-litre three cylinder engines, big spec list and optional AGS transmission, looks to be made of all the right stuff.

The core engine in the Celerio range is a 1.0-litre three-cylinder petrol unit developing a total of 66bhp at 6,000rpm and 89Nm of torque at 3,500rpm, so you're going to need to give the throttle pedal a bit of treatment to get anywhere. Especially if you opt for it with the brand's efficient AGS automatic gearbox.

The alternative Celerio powerplant is another 1.0-litre petrol unit with the same output, this one using Suzuki's more efficient Dualjet technology. Power goes to the front wheels via a five-speed manual gearbox at first, but we suspect that most UK buyers will want to talk to their dealer about matching the Dualjet engine technology to Suzuki's Auto Gear Shift (AGS).

The Celerio probably isn't going to turn too many heads, being a fairly generic-looking citycar in the modern mould. That's not to say its styling lacks merit, just that it's nothing too adventurous. The most notable flourishes are probably the deeply sculpted flanks, with an arcing swage line that runs just below the door handles. The front grille is unusual, with a three-bar design that kinks upwards at each extremity into the big headlight pods.

The body measures just 3,600mm from stem to stern and 1,600mm wide, so parking it shouldn't present too much of a difficulty. A height of 1,530mm and a non-slanting roofline affords respectable headroom for occupants. The 2,425mm long wheelbase provides a tandem distance of 743mm, which gives plenty of space in the cabin for five occupants. The boot is vast for a citycar, with a capacity of 254-litres.

On to running costs. The standard 1.0-litre triple engine makes some very respectable figures, eking 65.7 miles from a gallon of unleaded and emitting just 99g/km of carbon dioxide. Go for the AGS-equipped automatic model and there's no running cost penalty.

If you're happy with a stick-shift and don't mind a modest £500 price premium, then Suzuki's more modern Dualjet 1.0-litre petrol unit is a better bet in this car. In Dualjet form, this Suzuki's combined cycle fuel consumption improves to 78.5mpg, while the CO2 return is enhanced to 84g/km. That'll make such a Celerio the cleanest and most fuel efficient new car on sale for less than £10,000.

In summary, the Suzuki Celerio is always going to be overshadowed by state of the art city slickers like the Volkswagen Up or the Renault Twingo, but it was never really designed to compete with the more high-end offerings of the citycar sector. It's easy to overlook the fact that after the Hyundai i10 and the Volkswagen Up, the biggest selling citycar in the UK in 2014 was the Suzuki Alto. The Celerio looks set to do even better than the Alto, with its super-low emissions and clever transmission.

If you want a car that is utterly no-nonsense, easy to use and which we'd bet will prove to be extremely reliable, the Celerio demonstrates that these qualities needn't cost you the earth. The fact that it's well-equipped and is incredibly cheap to run is just the icing on the cake. It might not seem an obvious hit on first acquaintance, but give this one time. We think it could be the sleeper hit of the year.

Ford Makes It Easier To Stay Connected

Ford is making it easier for drivers who wish to use social media while on the move, to keep their eyes on the road and hands on the wheel. The Meople, Connector app, available for iOS and Android devices, will be introduced to Ford's connectivity system SYNC AppLink to enable drivers to use voice-control to listen to messages from social media sites such as Twitter and LinkedIn. The Reuters Institute Digital News Report 2015 shows that those aged 44 and under are most likely to get news online, including from social media. By 2018 it is estimated that worldwide one-in-three people will be using social media.

All-New VTEC Turbo Engines For 2017 Civic

Honda has announced that two all new downsized turbo petrol engines will be coming to Europe. 1-litre and 1.5-litre VTEC TURBO engines will form part of the powertrain line-up for the 10th generation Civic, set for launch in Europe from early 2017. The all-new engines will be part of Honda's growing Earth Dreams Technology range and will deliver a combination of dynamic performance, class-leading output and excellent fuel economy. The first new VTEC TURBO engine, a 2-litre, was launched this year in the current Civic Type R, capable of 310ps and a 0-62 mph time of 5.7 seconds. Based on a completely new engine structure and utilising its newly developed turbo systems, the new engines feature variable valve motion technology to reduce friction and achieve class-leading output and environmental performance.

Mazda Unveils Rotary Sports Concept

Mazda Motor Corporation unveiled the Mazda RX-VISION today at the Tokyo Motor Show. The sports car concept is powered by a next-generation SKYACTIV-R rotary engine, the unconventional technology that is perhaps the most compelling symbol of the carmaker's challenger spirit. An exquisitely proportioned front-engine, rear-wheel drive model, the RX-VISION represents a "vision" of the future that could only come from Mazda. And one that countless fans of the brand around the world hope will become a reality. Rotary engines are unique in that they generate power through the rotational motion of triangular rotors, unlike the reciprocating pistons in conventional automotive engines.

Subaru Previews Next Generation Impreza Design Concept

The Subaru Impreza 5-door Concept made its world debut yesterday at the 44th Tokyo Motor Show today, previewing the design not only of the next-generation Impreza but Subaru's future models as a whole. The Impreza

5-door Concept offers all the functionality essential to Subaru and its customers. The concept achieves a higher level of aerodynamic performance while blending form with function, resulting in thoroughly modern styling which hints at how future versions of the car will look.

Introducing The Porsche Macan GTS

The new Macan GTS distinguishes itself with a driving experience that surpasses even that for which the Porsche compact SUV has become renowned. A re-engineered chassis, 20 hp more power and uprated brakes are among the dynamic GTS attributes keen drivers will appreciate. Styling highlights featuring typical Porsche GTS motifs complete the distinctive road presence. In terms of performance, the 360 hp petrol engine with 500 Nm of pulling power places the GTS between the Macan S and the Macan Turbo in the range line-up.

Everyone still loves the Cup

Wrighton
SPORTmatt.wright@
lsnmedia.co.uk

mattywright96

THERE are plenty of things to be cynical about in sport, with the amount of stories of corruption that have emerged from the likes of football and athletics in the last year damaging everyone's trust.

The actions of individuals don't help sometimes – thanks to Lance Armstrong, no-one believes what they're seeing when they watch cycling these days, preferring instead to grunt "I bet he's on drugs."

It can also happen with whole nations. We'll skip past the Pandora's Box that is the 2022 FIFA World Cup, which is being held in that famous footballing hotbed of Qatar.

Russian athletes quickly draw scoffs at their achievements due to the sheer amount of competitors from that country who have failed drugs tests.

Thankfully, there are some sections of sport that are above such sneering attitudes, and this weekend has seen some of them begin to take centre stage.

If you were to ask a large group of people to name a knockout competition, surely the most common response would be the FA Cup.

For all the changes we've seen in football in the last few decades, it remains without equal, and almost without fail provides us with the biggest talking points of any season.

The old competition has regained some of its prestige in recent years, with teams no longer putting out hugely weakened teams so they can 'concentrate on the league.'

It suffered a huge setback in 1999 when Manchester United were made to pull out of it by the FA, who were in the middle of one of their failed attempts to bring the World Cup to England.

But thanks to Wigan Athletic winning it in 2013, the 'anything can happen' vibe has returned after years going by without seeing the likes of

GRASS ROOTS: The FA Cup gives football's minnows their day in the sun

Coventry City or Wimbledon lifting the trophy.

This was confirmed in last season's fourth round when Middlesbrough's victory at Manchester City was quickly knocked off the back pages by Bradford City's even more incredible triumph at Chelsea, when the League One side came back from two goals down to win 4-2.

The first round, which we're in the middle of, is all about the non-league sides that are suddenly thrust into the limelight, such as Warrington Town and Blyth Spartans.

The FA Cup remains without equal and almost without fail provides the biggest talking points

It also provides hacks like us with something different to cover, and I've been fortunate enough to have reported on a couple of 'cupsets' in my time in the trade.

The only shame is that Luton Town are Bedfordshire's only representatives in the competition proper this time around (hopefully that's still the case by the time you've read this).

I get to be part of it again, though, working for another of LSN Media's titles at Brackley Town v Newport at the other St James' Park.

It's one of those grounds where your laptop is keeping your legs warm due to the lack of desks in the press box. Glamorous it may not be, but it's certainly memorable.

Hopefully, that's just one of the matches we'll all be talking about next week.

Luton are edged out as Barking pile on misery

RUGBY REVIEW

LUTON Rugby continue to find the going tough in London One North after being beaten by Barking 10-7 at Newlands Road, as they continue to search for their first league win of the season.

Fourth-placed Thurrock visit Newlands next weekend as Luton search for a result that will lift them from the foot of the league table.

In Midlands 3 East (South) both Stockwood Park and Dunstablians enjoyed home victories as they both continue to climb the league table in their respective pushes for promotion positions.

"It was a good home win in what was some awful conditions to play rugby in," said former Stockwood Park President John Humphries. "There was a high error count, as you would expect, but we ran out comfortable winners against a side struggling for results, they're bottom of the league and I guess the score line reflected that."

Stockwood lead 15-0 at the break as Justin Harkin, Joe Flatley and Jason Carr, all touched down, and they continued to run in the tries after the restart with

HARD GOING: Luton remain without a win this season

Flatley adding his second of the afternoon before Ben Griffin crossed the whitewash on his return to first-team action from injury. James Hankey was put in by Griffin to complete the try-haul with three minutes left on the clock.

Dunstablians 17-14 win against Northampton Casuals went all the way to the wire with the Dees securing the win in the last move of the game. "It was a close one," said winger Scott Warren, who was their hero of the afternoon. "We applied enough pressure, but just couldn't make it count."

The Dees took the lead through a Kev Boland penalty, but then conceded two converted tries to turn around 14-3 down at half time. However, Dees kept the ball well in the second half, controlled the territory and eventually made the possession count with Warren running in both Dees' tries from the wing, and Boland adding both conversions.

Dunstable sunk
by late equaliser

FOOTBALL ROUND-UP

FOLLOWING a 1-0 midweek defeat to St Neots Town, Dunstable Town could only manage to take a share of the spoils at home to Poole Town yesterday.

Their Evo Stik Southern Premier Division clash ended 1-1, with a goal coming either side of half time.

The Blues got off to the best possible start, taking the lead in only the third minute through Adam Watkins.

Chances were sporadic for both sides until the half way mark, but after the restart the visitors looked to take control of the game.

For the first 20 minutes of the second half, the visitors had the majority of the pressure, winning a number of corners, but Dunstable managed to hold firm.

In the 79th minute Poole came their closest yet with experienced striker Jamie White rising highest but his header ended up going just wide of the mark.

As heroically as the hosts defended, they were finally beaten in the 92nd minute.

Luke Burbidge slotted the ball coolly into the top corner, leaving goalkeeper Paul Bastock with no chance and breaking Dunstable hearts.

In the Southern League Division One Central, Barton Rovers' home clash with St Ives was called off yesterday morning due to a waterlogged pitch.

The fixture will be rearranged at a later date.

In the Spartan South Midlands Premier Division, AFC Dunstable's 10 game unbeaten run came to an end following a 2-1 defeat away to Berkhamsted FC.

Getting on shooting boots works for Josh

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

JOSH McQuoid revealed that Luton manager John Still has told him to shoot more and the advice paid off as his two stunning strikes saw off Crawley in the FA Cup.

The attacker had to wait until his 16th game for the Hatters to open his account after his summer move to Kenilworth Road, but his brace in the first round 2-1 triumph – including an 89th minute winner – moved his tally up to three in three games.

McQuoid said: "The gaffer has had a word with me and a few of the coaching staff have said that I just need to shoot more.

"I'm maybe, sometimes, trying to be a bit too clever, or trying to pass it when I should maybe be shooting. I've tried to take that into my game a bit more and have a few more efforts at goal. Thankfully today it paid off."

LETTING FLY: Josh McQuoid lets rip for one of the two goals that won the match for Luton

Luton were poor in the opening half but improved markedly after the interval and McQuoid said: "I'm pleased after my performance and the team's performance in the first half.

"We were nowhere near good enough in the first half, so to come out in the second half and react like we did, to give it a real go and get a goal in the last minute was very pleasing for us."

McQuoid's 20-yard lob at 53 minutes began the turnaround and he said: "I was angry before it because I don't think I was playing that well. I was a bit annoyed with myself and then I got the ball, looked up and hit it. Thankfully it went in, so I was pleased."

Reds forward Matt Harrold levelled nine minutes later but the former Bournemouth ace was in the right place at the right time to smash the winner at the death.

"It's always nice to win that way," the 25-year-old said, adding: "We don't think we should have conceded the goal we did. I think we were unlucky but then to get the winner in the last minute was obviously good for the team."

Late Luton joy for once in Cup

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

CRAWLEY TOWN 1
LUTON TOWN 2

JOSH McQuoid turned two-goal hero to send Luton into the second round of the FA Cup as, just for once this term, they came up with a late winner.

Five times this term, Town have conceded decisive goals at the death so this was welcome relief. The magic of the cup? Maybe.

Certainly it was payback for the League Two defeat of the same score that the Hatters suffered against Crawley on this very ground three weeks ago. But, more importantly, it prevented a replay and a third quick-fire instalment of the fixture this season – unwanted, judging by almost 1,000 Hatters fans that didn't make this return trip to Sussex. They would have been justified in their absence on the evidence of the first half, because if there was any abracadabra in the tie at that stage, it was that Luton were even in a position to win this game at all.

McQuoid's strikes at the 54th and 89th minutes were both stunners but, for the second time running at the Broadfield Stadium, they were poor for 45 minutes.

After the break, though, a proper cup tie broke out and the visitors were a different proposition, largely due to their substitutions, with Paul Benson introduced for the ill Jack Marriott – his first outing since August 25 – and Danny Green playing for the first time since October.

McQuoid will also have something to say about that. His opener was an audacious lob, while his second, after Matt Harrold had levelled, was lashed in with aplomb after good work from Benson and a defensive mix-up. There was no way back for the Reds at that late stage.

Bar a ten minute period midway through, where they looked to have settled after a slow start, it was déjà vu – just minus the Crawley goals.

Roarie Deacon, Gwion Edwards, Rhys Murphy and Jimmy Smith all went close, while Harrold – who scored the comeback winner last month against the Hatters – caused all sorts of concern with a towering aerial performance that Luton couldn't get to grips with.

Luton's goalkeeper Elliot Justham, who made his first appearance two months ago in a customary cup outing, also had to be quick off his line to keep out Murphy as the attacker almost profited when Deacon's scuffed shot nearly ricocheted kindly.

Flahavan at the other end had been a virtual spectator before half time, but had to be alert early in the second period as Sean Long's deep cross needed tipping over the bar. Perhaps it was a tactic with the keeper, a relatively small 5ft 11ins, but McQuoid exploited it to the full, firing in over his head from 20 yards for his second of the season.

Suddenly it was end-to-end as Harrold, who had become increasingly incensed by the officials' decisions, tested Justham with a skidder from the edge of the area soon after.

Man-on-a-mission Harrold then clawed Crawley back into the tie, heading in from a corner. It was yet more sloppy defending and it frayed Hatters' nerves somewhat but after a panic-stricken few minutes they steadied themselves.

The grand finale looked to have been a Justham goal-line stop to set up a less than mouth-watering replay, but then McQuoid hit another firecracker.
